

PROVIDENCE CHILDREN'S FILM FESTIVAL

WE BRING THE WORLD TO RHODE ISLAND

Thanks to sponsors like you, we have created one of the top four children's film festivals in North America!

YOUR SUPPORT ALLOWS US TO...

delight

...show films that reach into our lives and resonate with all of our emotions. It's what PCFF is all about. Children deserve great films that spark their imaginations with larger truths and bigger ideas.

The creation of animations is an international passion. Every year we span the globe to find some of the most unique animations being made. Often they alter your perception of the worlds around you.

educate

...teach the art and craft of filmmaking.

Media literacy is a key component of our mission. Once you create a film of your own you will never watch any other film the same way again.

What if your mom came home one day and said, "The only food this family will eat for the next year needs to be grown, foraged or hunted by us!" Filmmaker Suzanne Crocker issued this challenge and filmed how it was possible (or not) for her family in the Yukon. A fantastic virtual Q&A about her journey with food followed.

inspire

...inspire our community through films that speak directly to YOU! Often, it takes learning about someone else's passion to empower you to discover and develop your own!

A government rounding up large numbers of people they see as unworthy of being part of a society was the premise of The Club of Ugly Children, but why does this narrative sound so sadly familiar? This film's call to action made it the overwhelming favorite for the Audience Choice Award.

connect

...take a film to the next level. Watch a film and then... learn to tap dance, meet a falcon, or get an FX scar.

We connect elements of the films we show to our own communities through workshops and events.

How is it possible that a monarch butterfly travels from Massachusetts to Mexico? This beautiful documentary illuminates how two regions, separated by thousands of miles, are ecologically interconnected. Director Kim Smith held a virtual Q&A to sound the warning on the perils these butterflies now face and how we can all help.
